WITH THANKS TO:

Most especially my husband, Bob McCarthy, for his support and help every step of the way.

Cheryl Andrews, for collecting, organizing and editing "Lesson Plans and Classroom Ideas" and for including her "Construction Workbook". Her time and talent have significantly increased the scope and effectiveness of "Kids on the Path".

All who have contributed Lesson Plans and classroom ideas:

Cheryl Andrews

Viola Espinoza

Sue Anne Foster

Ava Fullerton

Elizabeth L. Hawkins

Gail Herrera

Michael Loper

Tina Margason

Lisa Gidlow Moriarty

Rowena Nichols

Annemarie Rawlinson

SJ Romano

George Henke for his wonderful cover photo (and other photos).

Robert Ferré for his clear instructions on building labyrinths and for his diagram of the "Petite Chartres" labyrinth.

Cheryl Andrews, Lou Levin, Tina Margason and Kathie McCarthy for reading and critiquing the text of the Manual.

Lauren Artress who started me on the path of working with children and labyrinths when I took the Veriditas Facilitator Training in 1999 and who has been a mentor, colleague and friend since that time.

With gratitude to all,
Marge McCarthy

SHARE YOUR IDEAS FOR USING LABYRINTHS WITH CHILDREN

Do you have ideas for lessons or projects that you would like to share with other educators? Please send your ideas to Cheryl Andrews at candrews@rms.org. We'd like to post new ideas on the Labyrinth Resource Group website in the Schools section: www.LabyrinthResourceGroup.org. It would be helpful to others if you could include a synopsis of the overall idea, the materials used, the approximate time needed, and the directions or procedure for the lesson. Also include your contact information if you don't mind others getting in touch with you.

Please read this disclaimer before sending in your ideas: by submitting this lesson or project, I hereby give the Labyrinth Resource Group permission to edit, publish and market this information in any form they see fit, including but not limited to: book, video, DVD, or internet website. I know that I will be given written credit but will receive no payment or compensation in any form for this material. I know that submission of this lesson or project does not guarantee publication in any form.
